FURTHER DETAILS OF THE 2022–23 TANGLEWOOD LEARNING INSTITUTE'S FALL/WINTER/SPRING PROGRAMMING

The Boston Symphony Orchestra announces the fall/winter/spring schedule of performances to take place at Tanglewood's Linde Center for Music and Learning, October 2022 through May 2023.

On Sunday, November 27, as part of the 2022-23 TLI season concert series, musicians from the Boston-based group Castle of our Skins will present a varied and dynamic program of works, spotlighting both unsung and celebrated figures of the past and present, including Tania León, Andre Myers, Zenobia Powell Perry, Coleridge-Taylor Perkinson, Undine Smith Moore, and Daniel Bernard Roumain. Now in its tenth season, Castle of our Skins is a Black arts institution dedicated to fostering cultural curiosity and celebrating Black artistry through music. Previous collaborations with the Boston Symphony Orchestra have included a preconcert event at Franklin Park in 2017 and a 2019 joint project with the Boston Public Schools. The name of the group derives from the celebrated poet Nikki Giovanni's poem for nina. For more information about Castle of our Skins, click here.

Linde Center Health and Safety Protocols

Masking is optional, although the use of high-efficiency masks (KN95, KF94, or N95 masks) is recommended.

Brief Description of the Tanglewood Learning Institute and Linde Center for the Performing Arts

The TLI fall/winter/spring season hopes to appeal to audiences that are looking for an additional cultural experience beyond the summer season at Tanglewood, including the full- and part-time residents of the Berkshire community, which has played a crucial role in support of the festival since its founding in 1937. The Linde Center for Music and Learning—Tanglewood's new four-building complex and home to most of TLI's innovative summer programming—has played a role in establishing the festival for the first time as a year-round facility. Tanglewood, one of the country's most acclaimed music festivals and summer home of the Boston Symphony Orchestra and Tanglewood Music Center, is located in Lenox and Stockbridge, Massachusetts.
